Shannon Tipton hosted a Learning Rebels Coffee Chat focusing on goal setting and resource sharing. Participants discussed their progress on goals set in the previous session, emphasizing positive framing. Shannon highlighted the importance of accountability and shared her own goal of creating a peaceful oasis in her bedroom. The discussion included various productivity tools like Pocket, Notion, and Raindrop, with participants sharing their experiences. They also explored resources for instructional design, such as Cathy Moore's "Map It" and Sharon Bowman's "Training from the Back of the Room." The session concluded with a preview of upcoming topics on productivity and continuous learning.
